TO THE READER.

Travelling long Journeys is costly, at all times troublesome, at sometimes dangerous: Yet is it both a general and generous desire of most men to be acquainted with their native Country.

To

To the Reader.

To satisfie them herein, this Work is set forth; where thou mayest cross Rivers without Boat or Bridge, climb up Mountains without pains, and go down without danger: in a word thy eye may safely travel in a few hours over all England, this Book presenting the Towns and Villages thereof, Alphabetically Methodized, with the addition of their respective Counties, Hundreds, Rapes, Wapentakes, &c. wherein they are. Also the Bishopricks and Counties under their several Jurisdictions, and number of Parishes in each Diocess; The names of the Shires, and Shire-Towns, the number of Parishes in each County, with the several Places that send Members

Members to Parliament, and the number each sends.

Now know that this was collected by the appointment (it the charge, and for the use) of that worthy Antiquary Sir Henry Spelman, Knight, one of whom too much cannot be said in his commendation.

And this is thought enough to perswade others of the usefulness of this Book, that so learned a man would cause it to be composed for his private use; and because things of this nature the more publick the more profitable, what formerly was confined to his Study, is now made publick for the benefit of that great number of People, whose curiosity or necessary
